Operating results and financial position

(1) Overview of operating results

Net sales for the first nine months of the fiscal year (from January 1 to September 30, 2024) were higher than those of the same period of the previous fiscal year (from January 1 to September 30, 2023).

Operating profit, ordinary profit, and profit attributable to owners of parent all turned to profitability.

Net sales	209.3	227.5	9
Operating profit (loss)	(6.5)	4.6	-
Ordinary profit (loss)	(2.0)	6.3	-
Profit (loss) attributable to owners of parent	(16.2)	30.7	-

Note: Amounts less than 100 million yen are omitted.

(Sales by products)

Total		209.3	100	227.5	100	18.1	9

Note: Amounts less than 100 million yen are omitted.

Electronics and Information Technology:

In the displays business, although demand softened on entering the third quarter (from July 1 to September 30, 2024), net sales were higher than those of the same period of the previous fiscal year due to robust demand and selling price increases in the first half (from January 1 to June 30, 2024). In the electronics business, net sales were higher than those of the same period of the previous fiscal year due to strong demand for products for semiconductors, as well as a continuation of the moderate recovery in demand for other products.

Performance Materials:

In the composites business, the competitive environment remained challenging and net sales were lower than those of the same period of the previous fiscal year due to sluggish product demand, mainly for high-performance resin used in auto parts. In the medical care business and the buildings business, continued firm demand for products led to net sales that were higher than those of the same period of the previous fiscal year. In the heat-resistance business, soft demand for products led to net sales being lower than those of the same period of the previous fiscal year.

(Profit/loss)

Persistently high prices for raw materials and energy, together with soaring distribution expenses, resulted in arising manufacturing costs. On the other hand, in addition to the effects of manufacturing cost reductions, which were driven mainly by the increase in selling prices and higher capacity utilization rates in the displays business, favorable sales of products for semiconductors resulted in a return to the black at the operating profit and ordinary profit levels (compared to an operating loss and ordinary loss in the same period of the previous fiscal year). In addition, in the same period of the previous fiscal year the recording of large amounts of business restructuring expenses resulted in a loss attributable to owners of parent. The first nine months of this fiscal year saw a significant improvement, with a profit attributable to owners of parent recorded due to such factors as the disposal of non-core assets and reduction of cross-shareholdings in line with the Medium-term Business Plan “EGP2028,” and the recording of a gain on sale of non-current assets and a gain on sale of investment securities as extraordinary income.

(2) Overview of financial position

(Assets)

Total assets at the end of the first nine months of this fiscal year increased by 788 million yen compared to the end of the previous fiscal year, to 704,705 million yen. In current assets, cash and deposits increased due to the sale, etc. of property, plant and equipment and investment securities. Merchandise and finished goods decreased due to the increase in net sales.

(Liabilities)

Total liabilities at the end of the first nine months of this fiscal year decreased by 13,602 million yen compared to the end of the previous fiscal year, to 200,184 million yen. In addition to a decrease in notes and accounts payable - trade, short-term borrowings increased and long-term borrowings decreased due to repayments of borrowings and transfers from long-term borrowings with repayments due within one year.

(Net assets)

Net assets at the end of the first nine months of this fiscal year increased by 14,390 million yen compared to the end of the previous fiscal year, to 504,520 million yen. Retained earnings increased due to the recording of profit attributable to owners of parent. The number of treasury shares also increased due to the Company’s repurchasing of its own shares. In addition, foreign currency translation adjustment increased due to depreciation in the yen exchange rate relative to major foreign currencies.

As a result, equity-to-asset ratio was 71.1% (69.2% at the end of the previous fiscal year).

(3) Information regarding consolidated earnings forecasts and other forward-looking statements (Consolidated earnings forecasts for the year ending December 31, 2024)

(Billions of yen)

	Year ending December 31, 2024
Net sales	310.0
Operating profit	5.0
Ordinary profit	10.0
Profit attributable to owners of parent	30.0

Note: Amounts less than 100 million yen are omitted.

Costs associated with raw materials, energy, and distribution have remained high against the backdrop of heightened geopolitical risks in the Middle East and elsewhere. We also expect the impact of economic slowdowns in China and other countries to result in a continuation of the challenging business environment.

In terms of sales, in the Electronics and Information Technology segment we expect the displays business to continue to experience firm demand despite signs of inventory adjustments at customers, mainly in the Chinese market. In the electronics business, we will continue to increase production capacity to meet strong demand for products for semiconductors. In the Performance Materials segment, we expect the business environment for the composites business to remain challenging. We are working to build the optimal product mix and production system for the market and the competitive environment. In the medical care, heat-resistance, and buildings businesses we expect demand to remain stable.

In terms of profit/loss, although persistently high costs associated with raw materials, energy and distribution are putting operating profit under pressure, we expect expanded sales of products for semiconductors to contribute to operating profit. We will continue our efforts to add to operating profits through revisions to selling prices and improvements in productivity.

In light of the consolidated financial results for the first nine months of the fiscal year and the outlook previously described, our full-year consolidated earnings forecasts for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2024 remains unchanged from the previous forecast (of July 29, 2024).

The forward-looking statements, including earnings forecasts, contained in these materials are based on certain assumptions deemed to be reasonable by the Company Group and include risks and contingencies. Actual business results may differ substantially due to a number of factors. Factors that may impact actual business results include the economic conditions of global markets, various rules and regulations such as those concerning trade, significant fluctuation of supply and demand of products in principal markets as well as the financial situation showing extensive changes in prices on capital markets, exchange rates, and interest rates, rapid technological advancement in addition to spread of infection. Factors not mentioned here also could have a significant impact on business results.
