1. Qualitative Information for the Consolidated Fiscal Year Ended March 31, 2024

(1) Review of Operating Results

Japanese Economy: During the consolidated fiscal year under review (from April 1, 2023, to March 31, 2024), the Japanese economy showed strong growth in the April-June quarter thanks to recovered production activities, increased exports, and expanded inbound demand amid supply constraints easing. However, the underlying trend became notably weak, held back mainly by low household consumption and inventory investment.

Looking Abroad: As for overseas economies, major European economies such as Germany and the U.K. continued to show no growth as opposed to the U.S. economy which remained strong, undaunted by historically large interest rate hikes. Among the Asian countries, India maintained a high economic growth rate. China, on the other hand, showed no sign of economic recovery suffering from a real estate slump. Although there were variations among countries, the Asian economy in general maintained a high level of growth.

Japanese Stock Market: The Japanese stock market continued to rise as we monitored the Nikkei Stock Average. The average started at the ¥28,200 mark in April and reached the ¥33,700 mark in the summer. However, rising interest rates in Japan and the United States reversed the direction of the Average downward, temporarily below the ¥31,000 mark in October. Subsequently, the Average recovered slightly toward the end of the year and continued to rise led by overseas investors amid the rapid re-evaluation of Japanese stocks since the beginning of the year. As a result, it renewed its record high for the first time in 34 years, closing March trading at ¥40,369. The average daily transaction volume in the Tokyo Stock Exchange Prime Market from April 2023 to March 2024 was ¥4,380.4 billion (compared with ¥3,277.7 billion in the same period of the previous year).

US Stock Market: In the U.S. stock market, the Dow Jones Industrial Average, which opened at the $33,200 mark in April, corrected temporarily following the bankruptcy of a U.S. bank. However, it started to rebound from the end of May against the backdrop of the enthusiasm surrounding AI and exceeded the $35,000 mark in July. It then fell temporarily below the $33,000 mark in October in line with the sharp rise in the U.S. long-term interest rates. Later, against the backdrop of expectations for an early interest rate cut and other factors, it reversed its course and kept rising for nine consecutive weeks toward the end of the year, setting continuously a new record high. The Dow Jones Industrial Average, which had continued its upward trend since the beginning of the year, ended March trading at $39,807.

Japanese Bond Market: Japan's long-term interest rate started with this year's low of 0.34% in April but rose to this year's high of 0.97% in November after the Bank of Japan decided to revise its large-scale monetary easing measures at its July and October meetings. It then fell to 0.55% in January as U.S. long-term interest rates declined. At the March meeting, the decision was made to lift the negative interest rate, but the rise was limited because the market had already factored by then in its reaction to the said decision, and so, March trading ended at the 0.7% mark.

US Bond Market: The long-term interest rate in the United States started at 3.51% in April and rose as the U.S. Federal Reserve raised its policy interest rate to between 5.25% and 5.50% in July. On October 23, the rate reached 5.01%, the highest level for the period. From November, it fell sharply to 3.78% due to expectations of an early interest rate cut in response to the unexpected dovish stance of policymakers. From the beginning of the year, the rate began to rise on expectations that the US Federal Reserve's interest rate cut would be delayed due to favorable U.S. economic indicators and ended March trading at the 4.2% mark.

Foreign Exchange Market: The dollar-yen exchange rate opened at around 1USD to 132 JPY in April and reached the 130 JPY mark on the 5th, the lowest level during the period. After that, it rose sharply to the 151 JPY mark in November, on the back of U.S. dollar buying following a rise in U.S. interest rates and a selling of the Japanese yen with a sense of relief after the Bank of Japan's adjustment of its monetary easing policy. The exchange rate, then reversed its course to fall sharply due to the depreciation of the U.S. dollar in response to the fall in U.S. interest rates and the expectation of normalization by the Bank of Japan, and the exchange rate reached the 140 JPY mark on December 28. From the beginning of the year, the dollar was bought due to expectations that the U.S. interest rate would not be lowered soon, and the yen continued to be sold even after the Bank of Japan lifted its negative interest rate policy. On March 27, it reached the 151 JPY mark, the highest level for the period, and March trading ended at the same level.

(4) Basic Policy on Profit Distribution and Dividends for the Current Fiscal Years

The Group's main business is the financial instruments business, and the earnings of the financial instruments industry are highly susceptible to market trends. Therefore, the Group's basic policy on profit distribution is to pay stable and appropriate dividends to shareholders while working to enhance internal reserves.

The Company's basic policy on the number of dividend payments for each fiscal year is to pay twice including an interim dividend and a year-end dividend. The Board of Directors determines the interim dividend, and the General Meeting of Shareholders determines the year-end dividend.

The Company's Articles of Incorporation also provide that the Company may pay interim dividends as per Article 454, Paragraph

5 of the Companies Act.

For the fiscal year under review, the Company plans to pay a year-end ordinary dividend of \(\frac{\pmathbf{\text{16}}}{16}\) per share, and together with the interim dividend, it plans to pay a full-year ordinary dividend of \(\frac{\pmathbf{\text{28}}}{28}\) per share. As a result, the consolidated dividend payout ratio for the consolidated fiscal year under review will be 68.5%.

The Company's shareholder dividends for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2024, and subsequent fiscal years under the current Medium-Term Management Plan (through the fiscal year ending March 31, 2027) will be paid to meet the following criteria.

- (i) Consolidated payout ratio of 50% or more
- (ii) Annual dividend of 24 yen or more per share

The higher of (i) or (ii) above shall be the dividend standard.

(5) Outlook

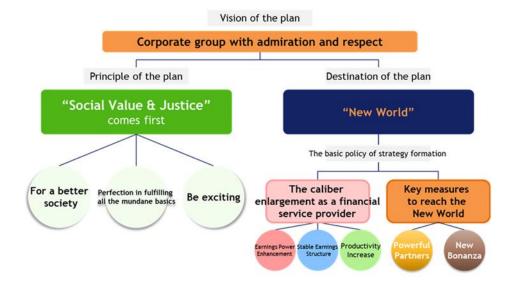

The Group's main business is the financial instruments business, and its performance is affected by changes in the market environment. It is difficult to forecast the business performance due to the nature of this business. Therefore, the Company does not disclose a business performance forecast.

(6) Status of the Medium-term Management Plan

The business environment surrounding the Group is changing drastically. Technologies such as AI and blockchain are becoming increasingly indispensable for our business development. At the same time, companies are increasingly required to determine and implement appropriate sustainable management in such areas as environmental consideration and fulfillment of their social responsibilities. In Japan's securities brokerage business, the way we operate our business has undergone significant changes as exemplified by changes in the commission structure, regulatory and institutional reforms, and acceleration of digital transformation (hereinafter "DX"). We also need to shift to a more goal-based approach in designing our business policy to support the "Doubling Asset-Based Income Plan" which was advocated by the Kishida cabinet and offer portfolio proposals and solutions.

Under these circumstances, the Group formulated the five-year medium-term management plan "Beyond Our Limits" (hereinafter referred to as the "Plan") in April 2022 and since then it has been working on fulfilling the Plan. The Plan aims to make the Company a "corporate group with admiration and respect" by taking on the challenge of reaching the "New World" with "Social Value & Justice comes first" as its action guidelines. In pursuing such a goal, we hoist the core strategic policies that read "The Caliber Enlargement as a Financial Service Provider" and "Deploying Key Measures to Reach the New World". By "The caliber enlargement as a financial service provider", the Company means to redesign its revenue-generating and cost-spending practices and expand its stable earnings base. By "Deploying Key Measures to Reach the New World", the Company means to set further focus on collaboration with Powerful Partners (*1) and the creation of a New Bonanza (*2). In the digital field, the Company is providing advanced financial services from our subsidiaries including CHEER Securities Inc. and Tokai Tokyo Digital Platform Co., Ltd. and assisting local communities with their DX promotion processes.

"Beyond Our Limits"

- (*1) Powerful Partners: Partners here include institutions engaged in power companies, telecom companies, financial institutions, trading firms, real estate companies, universities, regional banks, and local governments.
- (*2) New Bonanza: Businesses and functions earmarked to become new "gold mines" for the Group

In the consolidated fiscal year under review, as of the second year end of the Plan, the Group's performance in terms of KGIs assessment was as follows; the return on equity (ROE) was 5.8%, asset under custody were \$10.9 trillion, and ordinary profit, an important KPI, was \$18,300 million

(5) Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

(Notes on Going Concern Assumption)

There are no applicable matters.

(Significant Basis of Presenting Consolidated Financial Statements)

(i) Scope of consolidation

24 consolidated subsidiaries (as of the end of the current fiscal year)

(Changes in the Scope of Consolidation)

During the consolidated fiscal year under review, one company was excluded from the scope of consolidation due to an absorption-type merger, one company due to a transfer of shares, and one company due to a contribution in kind of shares to an affiliated company.

(ii) Application of the equity method

16 affiliated companies accounted for by the equity method (as of the end of the current fiscal year)

(Change in the Scope of Application of the Equity Method)

During the consolidated fiscal year under review, one affiliated company was included in the scope of application of the equity method as a result of receiving a contribution in kind of shares.

(iii) Fiscal year of consolidated subsidiaries

Of the consolidated subsidiaries, 9 overseas subsidiaries and 2 investment limited partnerships have a fiscal year-end of December 31. The financial statements as of the fiscal year-end are used to consolidate significant transactions that occurred between the fiscal year-end and the consolidated fiscal year-end after making necessary adjustments for consolidation. The fiscal year-end of the other 13 subsidiaries is March 31.

(iv) Accounting standards

A. Purpose and scope of trading

The purpose of trading is to gain profits by taking advantage of short-term fluctuations in prices, interest rates, currency prices and other performance indicators in securities markets such as exchanges and to reduce losses arising from these transactions, and the scope of trading includes trading in securities markets, market derivatives, foreign market derivatives and over-the-counter derivatives.

B. Valuation standards and methods for securities belonging to trading products

The securities and derivatives transactions belonging to trading products are stated at market value.

C. Valuation standards and methods for securities not belonging to trading products

The following valuation standards and methods are adopted for securities not belonging to trading products.

Other securities

(a) Securities other than shares without market price

The market price on the consolidated closing date is deemed to be stated as a value on the consolidated balance sheet, and the valuation difference from the acquisition cost determined by the moving average method is directly entered into net assets.

(b) Securities without market price

Stated at cost based on the moving average method.

D. Depreciation of significant depreciable assets

- (a) Property, plant and equipment (excluding leased assets): The declining balance method is mainly applied. However, the Company and its domestic consolidated subsidiaries adopt the straight-line method for buildings (excluding their attached facilities) acquired on or after April 1, 1998, and the facilities and structures attached to buildings acquired on or after April 1, 2016.
- (b) Intangible assets (excluding leased assets): The straight-line method is mainly used. However, software for internal use is amortized by the straight-line method over the period during which it can be used internally.
- Intangible assets acquired as a result of the acquisition of subsidiaries are amortized over the estimated effective period according to the manner the effect of such assets is recognized.
- (c) Leased assets: The Company adopts the straight-line method over the useful life as the lease period with no residual value remaining at the expiration of the finance lease exempt from a passage of title.

E. Accounting standards for significant allowances

Allowance for doubtful accounts: To prepare for loan losses, the allowance is stated in an estimated uncollectible amount based on the past credit loss ratio for general receivables. For specific receivables such as doubtful receivables, however, the estimated uncollectible amount is based on an individual examination of collectability.

Provision for bonuses: The Company and its domestic consolidated subsidiaries provide for the payment of bonuses to employees at an estimated amount calculated by the prescribed calculation method.

Provision for bonuses for directors (and other officers): To prepare for the payment of bonuses to officers, the estimated amount to be paid is recorded.

Provision for directors' retirement benefits: To prepare for the payment of retirement benefits for directors and corporate auditors, certain domestic consolidated subsidiaries provide for the estimated amount of the year-end retirement benefits calculated based on the internal rules.

F. Accounting method for retirement benefits

The Company and its domestic consolidated subsidiaries provide for employees' retirement benefits based on projected net defined benefit liability and plan assets at the end of the current fiscal year.

(a) Method of assigning projected retirement benefits to periods

In calculating net defined benefit liability, the projected retirement benefits are assigned to the period up to the end of the current consolidated fiscal year based on the benefit formula method.

(b) Method of amortization of actuarial differences

Actuarial gains and losses are amortized in the year following the year they arise by the straight-line method over a certain number of years (10 years) within the average remaining service period of employees at the time of accrual.

G. Accounting method for reserves under special laws

Reserve for financial instruments transaction liabilities: To prepare for losses arising from accidents related to sales, purchases or other transactions of securities, or derivatives, etc., the amount calculated pursuant to Article 175 of the "Cabinet Office Ordinance on Financial Instruments Business, etc." based on Article 46-5 of the "Financial Instruments and Exchange Act" is recorded.

H. Standards for translating important assets or liabilities denominated in foreign currencies into Japanese currency Monetary receivables and payables denominated in foreign currencies are translated into Japanese yen mainly at the spot exchange rates prevailing as of the closing date of consolidated financial statements and recorded on the balance sheet. Translation differences are charged or credited to loss or profits. Assets and liabilities as well as revenues and expenses of foreign subsidiaries are translated into Japanese yen at the spot exchange rates prevailing as of the closing date of consolidated financial statements. Translation differences are included in foreign currency translation adjustment in net assets.

I. Goodwill amortization method and period

Amortization of goodwill is determined on a case-by-case basis and is amortized by the straight-line method over a reasonable period not exceeding 20 years.

J. Adoption of group tax relief system

The group tax relief system is adopted.

K. Scope of funds in the consolidated cash flow statement

Cash and cash equivalents in the consolidated cash flow calculation statement consist of cash on hand and deposits that can be withdrawn at any time, such as checking and savings accounts.
