The rationale of each shareholding is examined annually by the Board of Directors from the viewpoint of the Company’s medium- to long-term business strategies. The Company sells the shares for which there is insufficient rationale of shareholding. The Company confirms the appropriateness of continuing to hold shares on the basis of the policies below.

- The Company sells other shares based on the appropriate timing and method.
- The Company continues to hold shares when it is difficult to carry out the sale of the shares according to the Company’s plans because of reasons such as poor liquidity.

With regard to the exercise of voting rights of shareholdings, the Company appropriately exercises them judging from the viewpoint of increasing shareholder value of the issuing company, on the condition that such exercise of the voting rights contributes to increasing the Company's enterprise value.

[Supplementary Principle 3-1-3]

<Sustainability initiatives>

In order to contribute to evolving the sustainability of both society and Astellas, we have positioned “Deepen our engagement in sustainability” as one of the strategic goals of Corporate Strategic Plan 2021, and we are working to further advance sustainability activities and enhance information disclosure. In FY2021, we revised the materiality matrix to use it to guide our sustainability efforts by selecting 19 key issues from the perspective of importance for both society and Astellas and prioritized nine of them as the most important issues (materiality). To address this materiality, as well as environment-related key issues that are highly demanded by society, we formulated in FY2022 the Sustainability Direction that sets out mid-term priorities for Astellas, specific initiatives, and our commitments by FY2025. In FY2023, we established approximately 50 indicators under the Sustainability Direction to measure the progress of mid-term priorities for Astellas and our commitment through FY2025 with transparency. These indicators are reflected in the annual plans and are implemented as company-wide initiatives.

In regards to “Access to Health,” one of the nine most important issues in our materiality matrix, we have identified “lack of available treatments,” and “barriers making it difficult to access the healthcare needed due to poverty, insufficient healthcare information, etc.” and are promoting activities toward finding solutions. Specifically, we have continued working to create innovative healthcare solutions for patients where effective treatment options do not exist or patients struggling with illnesses where existing treatment options did not provide satisfactory outcome and to widely deliver the created “VALUE” to patients who need it. In addition to providing Astellas products through our regular business, we have built comprehensive access mechanism to enhance access to our products for patients who are unable to receive appropriate healthcare due to socioeconomic reasons, while still taking into consideration factors such as specific circumstances and regulations in each country. For example, more than 1,380 patients were treated through various access programs by the first half of FY2023. In addition, we are contributing to society through activities including, but not limited to, training healthcare professionals and improvement of health literacy. Another example is contribution to improving access to healthcare for more than 8 million of people in total from FY2021 to the end of FY2023 through programs supported by Astellas with the aim of strengthening healthcare systems and improving health literacy.

Concerning initiatives for the environment that highly demanded by society, we position climate change, in particular, as one of very important issues and have continuously implemented proactive measures to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. In December 2020, we announced our endorsement of the recommendations of the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD). Astellas disclosed the updated information including the quantitative scenario analysis in FY2023 based on the assumption that transition risks would materialize under a 1.5°C scenario for climate change and physical risks would materialize under a 4°C scenario.

As a long-term commitment to taking measures against climate change, we aim for achieving a 90% reduction in greenhouse gas emissions and a 10% neutralization of residual emissions to achieve net zero by 2050, based on the 2015 level, for Scope 1 and 2 and Scope 3, respectively*. In addition, Science Based Targets (SBT) certification was obtained for our greenhouse gas emissions reduction targets by 2030.

In FY2023, the Company formulated a roadmap for initiatives toward the achievement of its greenhouse gas emissions reduction targets. For Scope 1 and 2, we will introduce and renew in-house renewable energy equipment, purchase renewable energy from power generation companies, and switch over to sales fleets with low environmental impact globally. For Scope 3, we will make informed transportation decisions based on information regarding the impact of selection of transportation options on greenhouse gas emissions. We will also promote engagement with suppliers to encourage reduction of their greenhouse gas emissions.

* Scope: Range of calculation of greenhouse gas emissions, Scope 1: Direct emissions of greenhouse gas from fuels used in-house, Scope 2: Indirect emissions of greenhouse gas from consumption of purchased electricity, Scope 3: Emissions of greenhouse gas in the supply chain of business activities, such as raw materials procurement and product use

Details of Astellas' sustainability initiatives are posted on the Company's website and Integrated Report.

<Investment in human capital>

Astellas aims to be an "Employer of Choice," striving to reach our desired people and organization through optimizing three key areas: attraction, retention and development. Investment in human capital is important for the future of Astellas, in addition to enhancing its current ability for execution. We continue to invest with both short-term and mid- to long-term perspectives.

In addition, we established "Organizational Health Goals" with the aim of achieving CSP2021. The purpose of these goals is to nurture a corporate culture that aims at reaching ambitious goals by promoting innovation, developing our talent, and fostering collaboration, which enhances Astellas' ability for execution.

In our personnel departments, we are working to achieve the goals set by addressing the transformation of organizational culture and mindsets, the establishment of HR policy and systems that support global talent and organization, and strategic reforms to become an organization where innovation thrives, as priorities, as outlined below.

These three main priorities are supported through a reliable and data-driven approach to monitor progress. As a measure for monitoring progress in a reliable manner, we conduct a global engagement survey. This focuses on initiatives that enhance employee engagement and provides a visualization of the progress being made on each question. The strengths and points that require improvement identified by analyzing the survey results are used to create specific measures.

1. Transformation of organizational culture and mindset

Astellas focuses on ensuring psychological safety and promoting a culture of feedback to encourage employees to grow through intelligent risk-taking and learning. To create an organization that continues to generate innovation, we think it is important to have an environment where everyone can share bold ideas without fear of the outcome, ask questions about a situation, and give feedback to each other, as well as a mindset that allows feedback from others to contribute to personal growth.

1-1. Goals concerning the transformation of organizational culture and mindset

Astellas pursues ambitious outcomes through brave ideas. We aim to build an environment that empowers employees to take appropriate risks and support them to be 'outcome-driven' and 'innovation-focused.'

1-2. Status of the transformation of organizational culture and mindset

In order to secure the necessary resources (time and personnel) for an organization that continues to generate innovation, we conducted White Space Creating Training in our corporate functions. In a survey of participants, 90% of respondents agreed with the question of whether the training helped them create more white space*. In addition, Astellas also continues to implement the "Ask Me Anything" session, which is an interactive session designed to promote two-way communication between Top Management and employees.

*White space: The resources necessary for exploring new ideas

In Japan, we are also placing emphasis on health management which is strongly connected to ensuring psychological safety. The realization of work styles that allow each and every employee to demonstrate high productivity, creativity and self-fulfilling is predicated on employee health and the creation of a sound corporate culture. A sound corporate culture requires a psychologically safe environment in which employees respect each other and can actively communicate with peace of mind. Astellas is committed to pursuing organizational health through the support of diverse work styles and the promotion of employee health. Astellas' health management promotion system in Japan is planned and operated mainly by the Human Resources (including health staff), Astellas Health Insurance Society and labor union, and headed by the Chief People Officer and Chief Ethics & Compliance Officer (CPO & CECEO).

As a result of our efforts to promote good health management, Astellas has been recognized with certification as a 2024 Certified Health & Productivity Management Outstanding Organization (in the large enterprise category) by the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry in Japan for three consecutive years. Please refer to the following website for results of our initiatives promoting health management.

<https://www.astellas.com/en/sustainability/promoting-health-management>

2. Establishment of HR policy and system that support global talent and organization

The ratio of revenue by region in FY2023 was about 20% Japan and about 80% overseas, with Astellas' business growing globally. Consequently, the composition of employees is also becoming more global. We are engaged in building HR policy and system that support Astellas' business on a global scale since building human resource strategies and measures that are accepted globally are vital with the change in business and human resources.

2-1. Goals for the establishment of HR policy and system that support global talent and organization

Through building this HR policy and system, Astellas aims to create an environment in which each and every employee can be involved in innovative activities, pursue ambitious goals and collaborate with others under focused leadership. We aim to boost the performance of One Astellas by setting cross-divisional goals for each division that do not shut out individual divisions and by promoting ambitious goal setting and the rollout of the feedback system for each individual.

2-2. Status of the establishment of HR policy and system that support global talent and organization

As one initiative for the establishment of HR policy and system that support global talent and organization, we have integrated the talent management process globally. In FY2022, we revised our performance management and evaluation system, reviewed the remuneration and recognition system, and changed the calculation factor for the bonus payment amount from what to date had been divisional performance to company-wide performance. These revisions were incorporated from FY2023. We have introduced the Shining Star Program as a recognition system among employees to foster a culture of mutual admiration. Since its introduction in November 2023, as of the end of March 2024, 87% of employees have used the program, and 76% have received at least one recognition from a colleague or manager. Then, as the foundational element for the integration of all HR policies and processes on a global basis, the Company is supporting these pillars and implementing a cutting-edge HR system across its global operations.

3. Strategic reforms to become an organization where innovation thrives

We are working on the flattening of the organization for the strategic reforms to become an innovative organization. Our aim is to accelerate decision-making and empower the workplace by reducing the hierarchical levels below the president and CEO and increasing the number of subordinates managed by each manager. In addition, starting in April 2024, we are using position titles that reflect roles rather than hierarchical levels to create an organization where we work together and collaborate more effectively regardless of job titles.

3-1. Indicators and goals for flattening of the organization

We aim for the number of hierarchical levels from the president and CEO to be six (6) or less and for the span of control (SPOC) (Note) to be six (6) or more to encourage decision-making through the flattening of the organization.

(Note) Span of Control (SPOC): The number of subordinates per manager

3-2. Status of the flattening of the organization

The proportion of the organization in the six (6) or less hierarchical levels from the president and CEO changed from 73% as of April 2023 to 86% as of April 2024, and the average SPOC for the entire organization changed from 5.7 people as of April 2023 to 5.9 people as of April 2024.

<Investment in intellectual property>

Investment in intellectual property is essential for the business of the Company, which is a research and development-oriented pharmaceutical company. The Company continually invests in new technologies and innovative solutions for medical treatment with a focus on unmet medical needs and better therapeutic approaches.

In CSP2021, we will further enhance the execution of Focus Area approach for our R&D strategy, accelerate and expand Primary Focuses of higher priority as we aim to establish multiple innovative medical solutions. Having launched the Rx+® business, we continue to explore new ways to turn innovative science into VALUE for patients by applying digital technologies, devices, diagnostics and bioelectronics. When investing in these R&D areas of focus, we are focusing investment on not only intellectual property rights related to products, but also intellectual property and intangible assets that provide a foundation for cutting-edge modalities and technologies. If external partners possessing complementary assets, capabilities and talent are discovered, we engage in joint research, external collaboration, M&A, or other activity.

Directors as a means of examining and improving issues to further enhance the effectiveness of the Board of Directors, and discloses a summary of the results thereof.

As for the analysis and evaluation of the effectiveness of the Board of Directors for the business year ended March 31, 2024, the Chairman of the Board of Directors conducted a survey based on questionnaires to Directors, and based on the results of this survey, the Board of Directors performed its analysis and evaluation.

<Conclusion>

It was determined that the overall effectiveness of the Board of Directors is sufficiently ensured.

<Reasons for the evaluation>

The results of the survey on effectiveness confirmed the overall high evaluation and the following activities and discussions behind it.

- The Board of Directors effectively utilizes the Nomination Committee, and appropriately supervises succession planning (Note) and appropriately makes decisions regarding nomination.
- The Board of Directors effectively utilizes the Compensation Committee, and appropriately establishes the remuneration system and decides the amount of remuneration.

[Initiatives to raise the effectiveness]

It will continue striving to understand the expectations and opinions of various stakeholders and reflect them in the discussions of the Board of Directors meetings. The Board of Directors has also evaluated itself as there being room for further improvement in the timely sharing of information regarding the status of business execution with Directors. It will work to further promote timely information sharing that contributes to appropriate management oversight. [Supplementary Principle 4-14-2]

<Support for Directors>

The Company supports active deliberations at the Board of Directors and Audit & Supervisory Committee by providing to Directors the information they need to fulfill their roles and responsibilities. In particular, the Company implements training programs for newly elected outside Directors, through which they are provided with industry information pertaining to the Company, the Company's business strategies, and other information necessary for them to fulfill their roles and responsibilities.

With respect to particularly important matters, among matters to be submitted to the Board of Directors, the Company works to ensure active deliberations at the Board by providing a forum in advance for sharing information about such matters with Directors.

[Principle 5-1 Policy for Constructive Dialogue with Shareholders]

The Company implements the following to promote constructive dialogue with its shareholders.

The Company:

- 1) works, to a reasonable extent, to promote dialog further with shareholders through opportunities such as individual interviews and briefing meetings in addition to the Annual Shareholders Meeting;
- 2) endeavors to feedback opinions received through such dialogues to Directors and personnel concerned, and endeavors to appropriately reflect such opinions in the Company's activities;
- 3) appoints a Corporate Executive responsible for investor relations and overseeing dialogue with shareholders overall and establishes an investor relations department as well as the Corporate Disclosure Committee composed of members from various departments, in order to promotes the timely and appropriate disclosure of corporate information as well as dialogue with shareholders; and

- 4) ensures that personnel concerned with material non-public information manage said information in precise accordance with the Company's internal policies in order to avoid the selective disclosure of such information to a limited group of capital market participants.

<Action to implement management that is conscious of cost of capital and stock price>

The Company recognizes that being conscious of cost of capital and stock price is essential for sustainable growth and increased corporate value. In particular, the Company believes that ensuring return on capital in excess of cost of capital is important in order to increase corporate value. Accordingly, WACC is calculated and verified on a regular basis and used in business investment decision-making after a clear assessment of the cost of capital.

On the other hand, in the pharmaceutical sector, the Company recognizes that, in addition to recent business performance, the future pipeline value heavily influences medium- to long-term business performance and growth potential, and the stock price is evaluated accordingly. The Company carries out management based on the evaluation of future pipeline value as an indicator, rather than capital profitability indicators such as ROE and ROIC, which are calculated as actual values for a single fiscal year.

For information on the specific plans, policies and initiatives to date, please refer to "Action to Implement Management that is Conscious of Cost of Capital and Stock Price" on the Company's Investors webpage.
