Notice Regarding Company Split (Simple Absorption-Type Company Split) of Second-Tier Subsidiary

SCSK Corporation resolved at a meeting of the Board of Directors held today to conclude an absorption-type company split agreement with second-tier subsidiary Net One Partners Co., Ltd. calling for the execution of a company split (simple absorption-type company split) of a second-tier subsidiary with a tentative effective date of April 1, 2026. The goal of this company-split will be to transfer a portion of SCSK's IT product (hardware and software) distribution and server and storage product sales businesses to Net One Partners.

This company split will take the form of a simple absorption-type company split in which the split businesses will be succeeded by a wholly owned subsidiary (second-tier subsidiary). Accordingly, certain disclosure items and details have been omitted.

1. Purpose of Company Split

In recent years, there has been a rise in manufacturers seeking partners that fully understand their business strategies and are able to supply unique value in the sale of IT products (hardware and software) as IT technologies continue to evolve and grow increasingly complexity. At the same time, IT product sales companies are finding themselves pressed to accommodate diverse needs related to the digital transformation, cloud system adoption, and security tightening efforts of customers while also building an understanding of the latest technologies. This situation is turning attention to the potential role of distributors to function as intermediaries between these two parties by offering aid in relation to product supply capabilities along with wide-ranging sales and technical support.

The SCSK Group has long been developing network and security product distribution and server and storage product sales businesses. At the time of the acquisition of Net One Systems Co., Ltd., several businesses of this nature were being developed across the Group. Through the company split, we aim to consolidate these various businesses within a single company in order to build upon the product technology capabilities that serve as a strength of the SCSK Group's businesses in these areas. The company split will also allow for the integration of the Group's human and other resources to better facilitate the supply of cutting-edge products and services based on an up-to-date understanding of customer and market needs. Going forward, enhanced coordination will be pursued across the Group with the goal of carving out a position as a new distributor that is able to help resolve social issues and achieve business growth by working together with manufacturers and sales companies while exercising the comprehensive strength of the SCSK Group.

2. Overview of Company Split
