Announcement of Publication of Kokuyo Group Integrated Report 2026

Kokuyo Co. Ltd. is pleased to announce the publication of the Kokuyo Group Integrated Report 2026.

In 2021, the Kokuyo Group formulated its Long-Term Vision CCC2030, which includes its New Philosophy, and declared its aim to become a collection of diverse businesses with 500 billion yen in annual net sales by 2030. The following year, in 2022, we unveiled our new corporate purpose statement “Presenting a tomorrow you can’t wait for,” and updated our material issues (“materiality”) as part of our efforts to integrate sustainability.

Integrated Report 2026, Kokuyo’s fifth integrated report, features a visual design that is based on Kokuyo’s revamped corporate identity. Kokuyo revamped its corporate identity as part of a rebranding campaign in conjunction with its 120th anniversary. The report outlines the path toward the goals set out in Kokuyo’s fourth medium-term plan, Unite for Growth 2027. It also describes how the company, through Group management, is transforming its business portfolio in pursuit of sustained business growth.

Integrated Report 2026 improves upon previous reports in the series. First, the report presents a more coherent narrative. It links together keywords related to Kokuyo’s growth strategies for the medium and long term, examples of which include the self-directed and collaborative society and the Forest-Like Management Model. Second, it presents Kokuyo’s efforts to quantify and monetarily value the impacts of the company’s furniture business. Such quantification and monetary valuation were conducted using a logic model unveiled in December 2024. The logic model shows the causal relationships between Kokuyo’s business activities and the desired outcome, namely, the self-directed and collaborative society.
