(*1): The Goal-based Approach (GBA) is the general term for the provision of services by financial institutions based on the processes described below rather than the conventional "sale of products and services."

i. To give advice to customers on setting goals in life
ii. To design asset management plans and manage assets in accordance with advice
iii. To monitor the status of asset management, check each customer's intention, and continuously give advice on revising goals, etc.

(*2): A fund management company (FMC) means a company that offers a middle back-office function for fund business, especially investment trust business. By separating the middle back-office function in investment management business, whose entry barrier is extremely high, we will help domestic independent firms and foreign-affiliated firms enter this market or existing enterprises streamline their business operations.

3. Future outlook

The impact of this matter on the JIA Group's business performance is minor at this moment.
