FY2026 Q2 Financial Results Presentation

Strong CFD revenue and increased financial revenue drove record-high first-half results

August 5, 2026
GMO Financial Holdings, Inc.

Agenda

- 01 Financial Summary
- 02 Business Overview
- 03 Appendix

Executive Summary

- Operating revenue reached ¥29.54 billion and operating profit ¥10.35 billion, resulting in record-high first-half results
- CFD revenue declined from the record high recorded in Q1'26 but remained at a high level, while growth in financial revenue also contributed to the results

FY26 Q2 Highlights

- Securities & FX Business

OTC FX: Trading volume decreased due in part to lower volatility in the foreign exchange market, resulting in a year-on-year decline in revenue

CFD: Revenue decreased from Q1'26 due to changes in the sales mix, while both trading value and revenue remained at high levels

Equities: Trading value increased sharply amid active market conditions, with cross-selling to other products expected as equities serve as an entry point for investment

Financial Revenue: In addition to growth in returns on customer deposits driven by rising interest rates, revenue from margin trading also increased

- Crypto Asset Business

Revenue and profit decreased as the market, led by Bitcoin, remained weak, while staking revenue also declined in line with market conditions

The number of crypto asset accounts exceeded 800 thousand in April 2026, with the customer base continuing to expand steadily

- Enhancement of Shareholder Returns (Introduced a minimum payout ratio of 65% and a DOE floor of 10%)

In light of the dividend amount calculated based on the 65% dividend payout ratio exceeding the DOE floor of 10%, the Company revised its dividend forecast upward. The dividend per share for Q2 FY2026 has been increased to ¥14.45 (up ¥0.76 per quarter and ¥2.26 per year from the forecast announced in April 2026)

Crypto Assets | Changes in the Regulatory Environment

- The Act Partially Amending the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act and the Payment Services Act was enacted and promulgated in July 2026, marking the full-scale development of a regulatory framework to enhance user protection and market integrity for crypto assets
- We will closely monitor regulatory developments and respond appropriately, contributing to the development of a sound and open crypto asset market

July 15 Enactment

- The Act Partially Amending the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act and the Payment Services Act was enacted on July 15, 2026, and promulgated on July 23, 2026

Second Half of 2026 onward Development of Detailed Regulations

- Reserve funds will be required as compensation resources in the event of unauthorized outflows of crypto assets
- The specific reserve ratio, which is expected to have a significant impact on business operations, will be stipulated by Cabinet Office Order, taking into account the balance of crypto assets under management and security standards

Within One Year After Promulgation Revised Act Scheduled to Take Effect

- The regulatory framework for crypto asset exchange service providers will be transferred from the Payment Services Act to the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act
- Strengthening user protection and improving market transparency and integrity

2028 onward Tax Reform (Expected)

- Eligible crypto assets are expected to transition from the current comprehensive taxation system (maximum 55%) to a flat 20% separate self-assessment taxation system
- Some expectation for increased crypto asset trading as a result of improvements to the tax environment

*The timing of enforcement, scope of application, and other details of the regulatory framework are subject to change depending on future developments in laws, regulations, and the tax system.
