[Supplementary Principle 2.4.1: Ensuring Diversity]

[Culture and Inclusion: Initiatives for Advancing Inclusivity]

Against the backdrop of a declining workforce due to the declining birthrate and aging population, increasingly diverse individual values and lifestyles, advances in technologies such as generative AI, and accelerating labor mobility, the environment surrounding society and the workplace continues to evolve in increasingly complex and diverse ways. As a result, the importance of creating an organization in which diverse talent can fully demonstrate their capabilities is growing ever greater. We aim to forge a corporate culture that maximizes achievements by impartially providing each employee with opportunities to play an active role. Culture and Inclusion (C&I) is the measure for this objective. This is one of the most important management strategies for advancing employees' inclusivity, for including diverse values and for ensuring that every employee displays their respective strengths to achieve significant personal growth and growth for the company. The guiding principles are also set forth in the Oracle Code, which serves as an ethical and moral compass for our employees.

To consistently innovate and to continue our growth, we need employees with inclusivity. When we develop a corporate culture where our employees produce greater achievements through their respective duties, we can fulfill our responsibility of contributing to development of social infrastructure through information technologies.

We do not have a dedicated department for C&I. This reflects Oracle's unique approach: "Culture starts with you."

Accordingly, we value C&I activities conducted by employee resources groups (ERG), in addition to those based on policies pursued by leaders in management. The activities by ERGs are driven by employees themselves in a bottom-up manner. What we honor is our individual employees' will and spirit of taking up challenges.

At present, Oracle has three ERGs. Their activities including helping women succeed as employees, supporting employees with disabilities and their families, and supporting sexual minorities.

ERG activities are expanding every year. The implementation of policies by leaders in management and employee-driven ERG activities complement each other to help develop an inclusive corporate culture.

[Mid- to Long-Term Plan 2033]

In addition to past activities, as our mid- to long-term plan through 2033, we will organizationally promote the following initiatives in the areas of human resources recruitment, training, and promotion for “female employees,” “employees hired mid-career,” and “non-Japanese employees.”

Please refer to Metrics and targets, on page 12.

[Recruitment, Training, and Promotion of Female Employees]

Currently, female managers account for 16.1% of our total workforce. We recognize that increasing this percentage by creating an environment in which women can thrive is one of our challenges. One factor underlying this challenge is the high proportion of male applicants in the information and communications industry. In the cloud services field, which is a key focus area, the proportion of male candidates is particularly high, making it difficult to significantly change the gender composition of our workforce. Meanwhile, with respect to developing and promoting female managers from among existing employees, we continue to advance initiatives such as raising awareness among female employees and developing role models. We conduct a “Talent Review Board” for each business division to discuss employee promotion decisions. This provides a cross-functional forum in which senior management considers the promotion of high-performing employees, regardless of gender.

In addition, as part of our manager development programs, we offer training programs at each career level to develop next-generation managers and leaders, regardless of gender and beyond the boundaries of employees’ assigned roles or positions.

We have set a goal of increasing the ratio of women in management positions to 30% by fiscal year 2033. This ratio is steadily rising with each year.

[Recruitment, Training, and Promotion of Employees Hired Mid-Career]

From the perspectives of securing talented new graduates and maintaining an appropriate workforce composition through the recruitment of younger employees, we actively recruit experienced professionals throughout the year while continuing to hire new graduates.

Currently, 85.1% of our employees were hired as mid-career professionals. For newly hired employees, we provide onboarding training and orientation programs. We have also established support programs, including sessions for newly hired managers, as well as training arrangements that help employees become familiar with internal rules and systems and quickly demonstrate their capabilities.

Amid a shrinking labor force caused by the declining birthrate and aging population, promoting talented individuals regardless of age is also one of our key challenges.

In June 2019, we revised our rules to raise the mandatory retirement age to 65. In April 2021, we also established a continued employment system that allows employees to work until the age of 70, even after reaching the mandatory retirement age of 65.

Based on our business strategy, this continued employment system for older employees is intended to promote workforce inclusiveness by enabling us to retain employees who remain healthy, motivated to work, and highly capable after reaching retirement age.

[Recruitment, Training, and Promotion of Non-Japanese Employees]

Currently, 8.0% of our employees are foreign nationals. We are the Japanese subsidiary of Oracle Corporation, which means that our business operations in each business area are closely connected with global organizations. Active, two-way communication with global talent is essential to the implementation of our business strategies. We also seek to strengthen the English-language communication skills of our senior executives and leaders to accelerate the implementation of our management strategies, while recruiting highly skilled bilingual professionals from the labor market.

[Increase in percentage of male employees taking childcare leave]

From the perspective of inclusion in the workplace, promoting work-life balance for employees with childcare responsibilities is a particularly important priority.

In particular, encouraging male employees to participate in childcare is aligned with government policy and is one of our key initiatives. In line with the government's target, we aim to achieve an 85% uptake rate for childcare leave among male employees by fiscal year 2033.

To achieve this goal, we significantly expanded our programs in April 2025, enabling male employees to take up to 10 weeks of paid leave to participate in childcare during the 12 months following the birth of their child. Through these and other initiatives, the current uptake rate of childcare leave among male employees is 65.08%.

We also provide timely support to employees through briefings on internal policies related to childbirth and childcare, as well as individual guidance from our Human Resources department. We are committed to promoting an inclusive work environment that enables employees to balance childcare and their professional responsibilities.

[Principle 2-6: Roles of Corporate Pension Funds as Asset Owners]

To assist stable asset building by employees, we have introduced a defined contribution corporate pension plan (401k) and we hold asset utilization seminar to our employees.

[Principle 3.1: Information Disclosure]

[Supplementary Principle 3.1.3: Sustainability Initiatives]

The Company belongs to a group of companies at the center of which lies the US-based Oracle Corporation, which is effectively its parent company. With regard to sustainability, it is necessary to pursue initiatives to solve issues at a global scale, and the Company has adopted the basic policy of implementing such initiatives while taking into account the policies of the Oracle Group, which includes its effective parent company Oracle Corporation. The Company's approach to sustainability and sustainability initiatives are as follows. Forward-looking statements mentioned below are based on judgments of the Company's management as of the end of the fiscal year ended May 2026.

(1) Sustainability-Related Governance

The Company has established a Sustainability Working Group that operates under the supervision of the Board of Directors. This working group is chaired by the Chief Executive Officer and includes operating officers and heads of related internal departments. The working group identifies risks and opportunities, conducts management and formulates policies, etc. with respect to sustainability, including the sustainability of human capital. In addition, the results of these activities that constitute important matters are referred to the Board of Directors for decision making. The Board of Directors also undertakes supervision of the Sustainability Working Group by way of receiving reports at least once a year regarding the progress of set metrics and targets, and other necessary matters.

Each executive officer takes the necessary action based on the determinations made by the Board of Directors.

(2) Sustainability-Related Strategy

The Company understands that bold and urgent actions are needed to ensure the health of the planet. We pledge to build a sustainable future through our business activities, and aim to provide support so that our employees can also act in the interests of a sustainable future.

The Company's Board of Directors has set the following items as part of the Company's materiality, taking into account materiality in the Oracle Group and considerations undertaken by the Sustainability Working Group.

Providing a workplace that is diverse, inclusive and safe

Integrating sustainable business thinking

Regarding the above aspects of materiality, the Company sets specific metrics and targets and undertakes corresponding activities as described in (4). For more information about materiality in the Oracle Group, please visit: <https://www.oracle.com/social-impact/practices/>

Specific initiatives and their results in the fiscal year ended May 2026 are as follows. The metrics and targets we have established for each initiative are described in (4) Metrics and targets.

(a) Providing a workplace that is diverse, inclusive and safe

The Company believes that providing diverse, inclusive, and safe workplaces that maximize human capital and create an environment where employees can fully demonstrate their capabilities is an important strategy that supports our sustainable growth and value creation.

Specifically, based on the strategies of each operating department, the Company focuses on developing and promoting talented female managers, recruiting skilled and experienced personnel from the labor market, enhancing communication to strengthen collaboration with global operating departments, promoting work-life balance to foster an employee-friendly work environment, and establishing various systems and programs to foster a positive corporate culture.

i) Percentage of female employees and percentage of female managers

On As part of its efforts to promote a diverse and inclusive workplace environment, the Company has set improving the percentage of female managers as one of its key metrics. As a numerical target, the Company has adopted the government's target of achieving a 30% ratio of female managers. To achieve this goal, the Company analyzes the ratio of male to female employees across the Company on a quarterly basis and implements initiatives aimed at achieving the target.

With respect to promotions to managerial positions, the Company conducts Talent Review Board meetings for each operating department, where cross-functional discussions are held regarding managerial appointments. The primary role of the Talent Review Board is to make comprehensive determinations based on the performance and abilities of each candidate. Therefore, at this point, the number and percentage of female managers promoted are not included in the Company's metrics and targets.

Oracle Women's Leadership (OWL), one of the Company's global Employee Resource Groups (ERGs), leads activities as part of the Company's efforts to promote the success of female employees. As an ERG, OWL is a bottom-up, volunteer-based organization that is aligned with the Company's management policy on promoting women's advancement, and it has hosted various events led by OWL members each year.

During the fiscal year ended May 2026, OWL participated in "Girls Meet STEM," an external program organized by an outside organization. This tour-style experiential program is designed for junior and senior high school girls to experience the appeal of and workplace environment in the fields of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM). At the Company, OWL members mainly delivered company presentations and held roundtable discussions with employees. The events are based on voluntary participation by attendees, and the Company has therefore not set metrics or targets for the events themselves, as it considers mandatory participation with numerical targets to be inappropriate. However, participants commented that the program deepened their understanding of working at an IT company and broadened their career options by helping them recognize that employees with diverse backgrounds are active at the Company. In this way, OWL will continue to leverage its internal and external networks to contribute to the promotion of women's advancement and support for the career development of the next generation.

With respect to indicators related to the promotion of women's advancement, the fiscal year ended May 2026 saw only a limited number of planned new hires, as in the previous fiscal year, and there were no significant changes in the gender composition of all employees, resulting in a slight year-on-year decline in the ratio of female employees. On the other hand, the percentage of female managers increased compared with the previous fiscal year, reflecting the Company's continuous efforts to promote talented female employees to managerial positions as described above. The Company intends to keep promoting these efforts, with a focus on the initiatives described above, in order to achieve its target values.

ii) Percentage of mid-career employees

The Company has, as part of its business strategy to strengthen its workforce with immediately deployable talent, long been focused on year-round recruitment of experienced hires. At the same time, from the perspective of securing talented university graduates and maintaining a certain workforce composition through the hiring of younger employees, the Company continues to conduct regular new graduate recruitment.

In light of the declining workforce resulting from the ongoing decline in the birthrate and aging population in Japan, recruiting a broad range of talented human resources year-round regardless of age is also an important human resources strategy from the perspective of workforce diversity.

Based on the current analysis, mid-career employees account for 85.1% of all employees and 80.6% of managers. Because the Company has long focused on year-round recruitment, it has set as a numerical target the maintenance of this level.

With the aim of recruiting the most suitable talent, the Company operates a process through which open positions being recruited for across all business divisions can be freely viewed and applied for at any time via its website. This not only enables recruitment from outside the Company, but also supports an internal open recruitment system through which current employees may apply for open positions on their own initiative. The system is also utilized from the perspectives of appropriate placement of personnel and employees' proactive career development.

As one of its measures to recruit a more diverse range of human resources, the Company amended its rules in June 2019 to raise the mandatory retirement age to 65, and has also been taking an approach to recruit talented, immediately deployable human resources from a wider age range in the labor market.

In the IT industry, where technological progress and transformation are rapid, recruiting talent in strategic business areas is essential to driving the business forward. The Company will continue to focus on securing its workforce through these multifaceted approaches.

In the fiscal year ended May 2026, the relevant figures increased slightly compared with the previous fiscal year. The Company will continue its efforts to maintain this level, which is the target numerical value.

iii) Percentage of employees with non-Japanese citizenship

The Company is the Japanese arm of the U.S.-based Oracle Corporation, and each operating department is internationally connected to advance its business. In particular, in strategic business areas such as AI and cloud business, timely and accurate decision-making is essential. To achieve this, close collaboration and active communication among global personnel are indispensable.

To support these efforts, the Company has established certain metrics for the percentage of employees with non-Japanese citizenship among its new hires as part of its human resources strategy to secure global talent. In terms of specific metrics, the Company analyzes the percentage of employees with non-Japanese citizenship and has set a target of gradually increasing the percentage to an extent that does not cause extreme changes to the composition of the workforce.

More specifically, the Company has set a target of achieving a percentage of employees with non-Japanese citizenship of 8.0% by the fiscal year ending May 31, 2033.

Performance has progressed steadily, and in the fiscal year ended May 31, 2026, the percentage of employees with non-Japanese citizenship reached the target level of 8.0%. The Company intends to continue its current initiatives in order to maintain this level.

iv) Percentage of male employees taking childcare leave

The declining birthrate and aging population in Japan have become an important social issue. In particular, with respect to the declining birthrate, the number of births in 2025 was 671,236 (Note), marking a new all-time low, and the decline in the number of births has continued for 10 consecutive years, making the situation increasingly serious. While the government is expanding measures to support child-rearing, companies are also required to create environments in which employees can confidently balance childbirth, childcare, and work.

The Company recognizes that addressing such social issues is one of its important management priorities and is working to support the balance between childcare and work, as well as to promote male employees' involvement in childcare. Specifically, in April 2025, the Company revised its internal rules and introduced the "Parental Leave Program" as a support program for employees with children aged 12 months or younger. As a result, male employees raising children aged 12 months or younger can now take up to 10 weeks of paid leave, thereby significantly enhancing the program. In addition, the Company substantially expanded its support systems for employees' childbirth and childcare, including increasing the congratulatory payment provided to female employees upon returning from postnatal leave.

In October 2025, the amended Child Care and Family Care Leave Act came into effect, requiring companies to provide even greater flexibility in support of childcare. However, the Company had already introduced childcare-related welfare programs under its cafeteria plan (a flexible benefits program) and a shortened working hours system for childcare reasons, and therefore did not need to revise its existing working arrangements in response to the legal amendment.

With respect to numerical targets, the Company has set the percentage of male employees taking childcare leave at 85.0% for the fiscal year ending May 31, 2033, in line with the government's target. In the previous fiscal year, the introduction of the "Parental Leave Program" significantly improved the percentage of male employees taking childcare leave. However, in the fiscal year ended May 2026 while the percentage of female employees taking childcare leave increased to 105.0%, the percentage of male employees taking childcare leave declined from 86.8% in the previous fiscal year to 65.0%. The Human Resources Department is analyzing the factors behind this decline and aims to improve the percentage of male employees taking childcare leave in the current fiscal year.

Creating a workplace environment in which both men and women can easily take childcare leave is one of the Company's initiatives to provide a diverse and inclusive workplace that contributes to retaining highly talented employees. Going forward, the Company will focus on initiatives to promote the use of the existing programs, including interviews with eligible employees and awareness activities for managers.

(b) Integrating sustainable business thinking

With respect to this materiality, the Company believes that properly maintaining and managing its business sites is important and is committed to reducing CO2 emissions at its head office building. Specific initiatives aimed at meeting the reduction target set by the Tokyo metropolitan government include the installation of LED lighting in common areas and exclusive Company areas of the building, optimization of the server room installed in the Company-exclusive area, the replacement and upgrading of various equipment and systems in common areas, the introduction of energy-efficient equipment, and thorough implementation of turning off the lights during lunchtime. The Company set a target to reduce CO2 emissions for FY2025 by 36.2%. However, partly due to the effects of the extreme heat last year, the achievement rate was 84%, and the Company was unable to reach the target. (Note)

(Note) The figures are estimates as of the end of the fiscal year ended May 2026. Figures submitted to the Tokyo metropolitan government following third-party verification will be progressively published to the website of the Tokyo Metropolitan Government Bureau of Environment from April 2027.

(3) Sustainability-Related Risk Management

The Company identifies sustainability-related risks and opportunities through the Sustainability Working Group by means of the provision of information and discussions based on business activities from each department. In the future, the Company will continue to manage these risks and opportunities by reviewing and evaluating them through the same process, and by formulating and revising measures as needed. If any significant sustainability risks are identified, the Company will address them in coordination with relevant departments.

With respect to human capital, as part of its efforts to address workplace safety risks, in the fiscal year ended May 2026 the Company provided mandatory compliance training through e-Learning for all employees. In addition, it conducted company-wide "Harassment Prevention/Response Training" for all managers, providing comprehensive training based on the latest laws and regulations regarding harassment in general, including sexual harassment, power harassment, and maternity harassment.

Furthermore, from the perspective of workplace safety considerations, the Company has individually prepared Personal Emergency Evacuation Plans (PEEPs) tailored to each person's circumstances for employees with disabilities, employees who are ill or injured, and pregnant employees, as emergency evacuation plans that enable them to evacuate the office more safely in the event of an emergency. During the current fiscal year, the Company also conducted the necessary reviews of these plans.

Through these initiatives, the Company continues to promote measures to create a diverse, inclusive, and safe workplace environment.

(4) Metrics and targets

The Company analyzes its current situation with respect to the materiality aspects it has set, considers specific countermeasures in light of the analysis findings, and proactively implements initiatives to meet those targets on a continuous basis.

(a) Providing a workplace that is diverse, inclusive and safe

The Company has set the following five metrics with respect to the provision of a workplace that is diverse, inclusive and safe. Note that in the following table, for the purpose of calculating ratios in accordance with actual conditions, the percentage of mid-career employees and the percentage of employees with non-Japanese citizenship are calculated based on the total workforce, including dispatched workers and employees on leave, but excluding contracted employees.

In addition, the definition of "manager" corresponds to an employee whose Global Career Level is "M" (Manager), and does not include the number of people designated "IC" (Individual Contributor), who do not have subordinates.

	FY26	Target (FY33)
Percentage of female managers	16.1%	30.0%
Percentage of female employees	24.1%	35.0%
Percentage of mid-career employees	85.1%	Maintain the current status
Percentage of employees with non-Japanese citizenship	8.0%	8.0%
Percentage of male employees taking childcare leave	65.0%	85.0%

(b) Integrating sustainable business thinking

In terms of integrating sustainable business thinking, the Company has set a KPI of reducing CO2 emissions at its head office building by 45.8% for FY2026. This target is based on baseline total emissions of 27,810 tons for the fourth planning period (FY2025 to FY2029), taking into account the mandatory reduction rate of 46.4% imposed by the Tokyo metropolitan government. (Note)

(Note) In implementing future climate change initiatives, target values may fluctuate due to revisions to baseline emission settings or refinements in calculation methodologies.

Supplementary Information

At its meeting held on October 24, 2014, the Compensation Committee resolved to introduce the Board Incentive Plan (BIP) Trust (hereinafter the "BIP Trust") as a new incentive plan to change the compensation plan to one that would more strongly motivate our directors and executive officers to execute their duties.

The Company will first establish a trust by contributing funds to acquire the Company's shares, with the directors and executive officers who have met certain requirements as beneficiaries, among those who have elected to use the BIP Trust. The trust will acquire a certain number of the Company's shares that are expected to be delivered to the relevant directors and executive officers from the stock market during the predetermined acquisition period based on the pre-established Regulations for Share Regulations for Shares Distribution of the Company. Then, the trust will deliver the number of the Company's shares to the directors and executive officers as compensation every year according to the business performance, etc. of the Company during the trust period pursuant to the provisions of the Regulations for Share Regulations for Shares Distribution.

Persons to whom share warrants are allocated may choose between the share warrant plan and the stock compensation plan. The conversion ratio of the number of shares delivered in the BIP Trust to the number of shares granted by share warrants at the time of selecting the share warrant plan and the stock compensation plan is 4:1.

The number of the Company's shares owned by the BIP Trust as of the end of the fiscal year ended May 2026 is 13,197.

The following are the BIP granted during the fiscal year ended May 31, 2026 as compensation for their duties of our directors and Corporate Executive Officers. The Company has decided to unify stock option plan into BIP Trust for share incentive plan from FY2020 and the Company will abolish to grant new stock option.

Status of Disclosure (of Remuneration of Individual Executive Officers)	The remuneration of individual executive officers is not disclosed.

Supplementary Information

The total amount of remuneration, etc. paid to directors and executive officers, the total amount of remuneration, etc. paid to outside directors and the amount of remuneration paid to each of the directors who are paid ¥100 million or more for remuneration, etc. are disclosed in the securities report.

Whether there are any policies for the amount of remuneration or calculation of the amount thereof	Yes

Amount of Remuneration or Disclosure of the Policy for the Calculation of Remuneration

In determining and changing the officer compensation policy, etc., the Compensation Committee (comprised of non-executive directors only) discusses the payment details, payment method, and payment timing in reference to the compensation policies of the Oracle Corporation Group as to i. Compensation of directors who concurrently serve as sales executive officers and sales executive officers, ii. Compensation of directors who concurrently serve as non-sales executive officers and non-sales executive officers, and iii. Non-executive directors and outside directors. The Compensation Committee consists of non-executive directors only, and the compensation of directors and executive officers is determined after comprehensive discussions at a Compensation Committee meeting. Transparency and objectivity are thus ensured.

[Policies in determining the remuneration, etc. of the directors and executive officers]

The compensation of directors and executive officers is comprised of three elements: fixed remuneration, performance-based bonus, and share incentive plan. These are determined based on the following policies. The compensation of outside directors is the basic compensation portion that is determined through the same process because the main duty of the outside directors is to oversee the business management.

(a). Fixed remuneration

The level of compensation is based on roles and duties in view of the payment level of compensation in comparison with companies in the same industry.

(b) Performance-based bonus

Depending on the responsible roles, the indicators relating to the performance-linked bonus portion are respectively determined on an individual basis within the Company. As for compensation for executive officers responsible for sales, the items (sales/profits, etc.) on which the Company should focus for the term are set as the main indicators and paid in accordance with the level of target achievement set at the beginning of the term. A system for clearly reflecting the responsibilities and results as a business manager is applied by linking closely with the Company's business results based on multiple indicators including the level of achievement of the operating income target and the sales growth of the Company's products/services.

Whether to pay compensation to executive officers who are not responsible for sales is determined mainly in reference to the policies of the Oracle Corporation Group.

(c) Share incentive plan

The Company has adopted the Board Incentive Plan (BIP) Trust as an incentive plan to strongly motivate the execution of duties by executive officers to ensure that the interests of directors who concurrently serve as executive officers and executive officers are consistent with shareholders' profits resulting from higher share prices and in hope that they make continuous contributions.

[Support System for Outside Directors]

We have established an Administrative Office to the Board of Directors, which helps create materials that enable the full deliberation of agendas for Board of Directors meetings and provides prior explanations of the contents of the agendas. We have thus established a system that helps outside directors to understand the agendas and ensures that legality and other points are checked appropriately.

2. Matters Concerning the Respective Decision-Making Functions for the Execution of Business, Audits, Supervision, Nominations, and Remuneration, etc. (Current Corporate Governance System)

Oracle Corporation Japan is a company with a nomination committee, etc. We have separated the functions for making management decisions and supervision from the business execution functions, with the aim of establishing a higher level of corporate governance.

Operated by four corporate executive officers and 29 operating officers. They review important tasks related to business such as business strategies, overall organization reforms, and financial matters. Aiming to support the prompt decision-making and flexible business operations of corporate executive officers, the Company installs an executive board comprised of the Corporate Executive Officer, President and important organization heads below Corporate Executive Officer, President as main members. In the aim to discuss and share information on sales and marketing strategies, working environment of employees, the Company also installs a conference body made up of Corporate Executive Officer, President and heads of cross-sectional departments of the whole company as the main members. Efforts are also made to secure business with high transparency by actively carrying out cross-organizational discussions, and information provision to the whole company. Furthermore, when carrying out corporate business or daily business operations, functions of conducting checks from outside are enhanced by receiving advice from lawyers and certified public accountants, etc. and by enhancing check functions from outside.

[Audit Committee]

The Audit Committee conducts the audits by following the audit policy and plan that it formulates for each fiscal year. In addition to participating in the meetings of the Board of Directors and other important meetings, it interviews the directors and others on the status of the implementation of their duties to check the legality and legitimacy. The Representative Executive Officer and Independent Auditor have meetings with the Chairman of the Audit Committee and other Audit Committee members as necessary to exchange opinions about issues to be addressed by the Company, the status of the improvement of the auditing environment by the Audit Committee, important issues regarding audits, and other matters. We therefore have a system under which the Representative Executive Officer, Independent Auditor, and members of the Audit Committee deepen their mutual understanding. Mr. John L. Hall, who is an outside director, chairs the committee, which consists of three members including two outside directors.

[Nomination Committee]

The Nomination Committee determines the contents of the agenda regarding the appointment and dismissal of directors to be submitted to the general meeting of shareholders. The committee consists of directors selected through resolutions of directors. It has three members, including two outside directors. It is chaired by Mr. John L. Hall, who is an outside director.

The personnel affairs division serves as the Administrative Office of this committee, and the Corporate Executive Officer in charge assists the Administrative Office.

[Compensation Committee]

The Compensation Committee determines the policies on the remuneration, etc. of directors and executive officers and the individual contents of the remuneration, etc. received by directors and executive officers. The committee consists of directors selected through resolutions of directors. It has three members, including two outside directors. It is chaired by Mr. John L. Hall, who is an outside director.

The personnel affairs division serves as the Administrative Office of this committee, and the Corporate Executive Officer in charge assists the Administrative Office.

[Independent Auditor]

Our Independent Auditor is Ernst & Young ShinNihon LLC, which conducts an accounting audit each fiscal year and quarterly reviews under the audit contract. There is no special relationship between the Independent Auditor and the Company.

[Special Committee]

In the case where less than one-third of the Company's Board of Directors consists of independent outside directors, a special committee will be established as an advisory body to the Board of Directors for the purpose of strengthening the supervisory function of the Board of Directors and protecting the interests of minority shareholders, etc.

As of the date of submission of this report, this committee has not been established because the number of independent outside directors is more than one-third of the total number of directors.

3. Reasons for Adopting the Current Corporate Governance System

We introduced an operating officer system in August 2000 and separated the Board of Directors as an organization for making management decisions and supervising business operations from the business execution function of the operating officers, thereby ensuring transparency of management. At the same time, we have been striving to establish a system that permits us to respond flexibly to changes in the environment. In August 2008, we began to operate as a company with committees (which was renamed “company with a nomination committee, etc.” as a result of the amendment of the Companies Act on May 1, 2015) with the aim of further strengthening our system, which has already been improved through the measures we have taken, and establishing a higher level of corporate governance.
