[Supplementary Principle 4.11.3 Analysis and Evaluation of Overall Effectiveness of the Board of Directors]

All directors and audit & supervisory board members were surveyed and interviewed as needed to analyze and evaluate the overall effectiveness of the Board of Directors. The results were discussed and recommendations issued by the Nomination and Remuneration Advisory Committee (supported by an advisory attorney who serves as the administrative office), which has a majority of independent directors as committee members. The recommendations were implemented in Board of Directors meetings.

1. While the Board of Directors met all evaluation criteria, including size, composition, functions and roles, as well as operation, and was found to be effective, we concluded that we must still steadily implement measures to improve the functioning of the Board of Directors, make those activities part of our daily operations, and continually review the Board's functions to accommodate changes in the internal and external environments.
2. Issues found in the previous analysis and evaluation were 1) in regards to the "further enhancement of information provision to outside officers," in addition to expanding the subsidiary information in management reports, the president of important subsidiaries directly reports on the business conditions, as well as provides both the main points of discussion and the minutes from management meetings and the like. 2) To address the issues of broadening viewpoints and perspectives and narrowing down issues for debate in Board of Directors meetings, we established reports on the progress in each strategic area and on risk in the Medium-term Management Plan, as well as share the points of discussion about agenda items at meetings for outside directors with all internal officers, and confirmed efforts to improve effectiveness.

Additionally, reflecting the viewpoints of CSV (Creating Shared Value) and ESG (Environment, Social and Governance) in the Board's deliberations, the continuation of stimulating debate in further Board meetings, and the necessity to further enhance the provision of information to outside officers are issues we confirmed to be necessary.

The Company's Board of Directors will take further steps to improve the functioning of the Board of Directors and work toward further improvement in effectiveness, based on the results of the analysis and evaluation described above.

[Supplementary Principle 4.14.2 Policy on Training Directors and Audit & Supervisory Board Members]

[Incentives]

Incentive Policies for Directors	Introduction of performance-linked compensation and other forms of compensation
----------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Supplementary Explanation

Director compensation consists of the following three types of compensation:

- (1) Basic compensation
- (2) Performance-linked compensation (annual bonus)
- (3) Stock compensation (stock compensation trust) (BBT = Board Benefit Trust)

For internal directors and executive officers not serving concurrently as directors, the ratio between the basic compensation and the variable pay plan is set at 1 to 0.6 based on the average compensation ratio used by listed companies. The variable pay plan consists of performance-based compensation and stock compensation, and the ratio between the two is set at 5 to 7 in the light of the characteristics of the revenue structure of the leasing business to provide higher incentives on a medium- to long-term basis.

Performance-linked compensation is linked to ordinary profit, the balance of operating assets, and other consolidated performance plus each person's degree of contribution to performance for the fiscal year under review.

The goal of the stock compensation (BBT) system is to better clarify the link between compensation and the Company's stock price and foster an even greater awareness of contributing to improvement in medium- and long-term results and growth in corporate value. In this system, the funds contributed by the Company are used to acquire the Company's shares through an investment trust. As a matter of general principle, benefits are then paid out at the time of retirement as Company shares and an amount equivalent to the price of the Company shares on the date of retirement, in accordance with the rules on granting shares to officers formulated by the Board of Directors.

Policy on Determining Compensation Amounts and Calculation Methods	Established

Disclosure of Policy on Determining Compensation Amounts and Calculation Methods

For officers, the Company has introduced performance-linked compensation and stock compensation as a variable payment plan in addition to basic compensation paid as fixed compensation from the perspective of promoting achievement of the company objective of "securing stable business performance and growth and increasing corporate value." This has increased incentive and motivation to improve the Company's business performance and increase the share price by increasing the link between officer compensation and business performance and shareholder value.

Basic compensation is determined based on the general level of employee and officer compensation worldwide, the management conditions for the company, and other factors, within the total compensation approved by the General Meeting of Shareholders. Basic compensation is approved by the Board of Directors after the Nomination and Remuneration Advisory Committee has discussed it and provided recommendations. Performance-linked compensation is paid according consolidated business results and each person's contribution to performance, within the total amount of compensation approved by the General Meeting of Shareholders. Performance-linked compensation is approved by the Board of Directors after the Nomination and Remuneration Advisory Committee has discussed it and provided recommendations. The indicators for performance-linked compensation are the key performance indicators in the Medium-term Management Plan. They are operating assets, ordinary income, and ROA on a consolidated basis.

[Method for Calculating Performance-linked Compensation]

Performance-linked compensation = standard wages for each position x performance-linked payment coefficient*

(* The performance-linked payment coefficient is determined through a set formula that combines the percentage attainment of the plan and the YOY percentage for 1) operating assets, 2) ordinary income, and 3) ROA. The range for the performance-linked payment coefficient is between 0.5 and 1.5.)

The Company has introduced a system of stock compensation through an investment trust (BBT = Board Benefit Trust). Through this system, Company stock is awarded to each officer through an investment trust in accordance with the rules on granting shares to officers according to the position of each officer. The amount granted is determined by the Board of Directors after the Nomination and Remuneration Advisory Committee has discussed the awards and presented recommendations, within the total amount of compensation approved by the General Meeting of Shareholders. Eligible directors receive the benefit upon retirement as a general rule.

Outside directors, who perform a supervisory role, received only fixed-amount compensation because it is difficult for the concept of short-term incentives and stock-based remuneration to be accepted.

[Support System for Outside Directors and/or Outside Audit & Supervisory Board Members]

Outside directors (referring to Outside Officers and Outside Auditors. The same implies hereinafter.) have 3 persons in charge (serving concurrently in Corporate Planning Department and/or General Affairs Department) and the secretariat and various communications for the in advance explanation for Board of Director agenda items are held with outside directors. The Company provides the agenda for Board of Directors meetings in advance and also provides explanations in advance to outside directors and outside audit & supervisory board members.

Other Matters

The Company does not have a system for consultants, special advisors, or other such positions. However, the president makes the decision on the role expected of a special advisor and on concluding an agreement, after these matters are discussed by the Nomination and Remuneration Advisory Committee, the majority of members of which are independent directors.

Special advisors do not attend the Company's Board of Directors meetings and Executive Committee meetings, or other internal meetings, and do not have the authority to make management decisions for the Company.

The status of special advisor activities is reported to the Nomination and Remuneration Advisory Committee on a regular basis.

Compensation for special advisors is paid as fixed compensation, according to their current roles.
